The Silverline Arms

The Silverline Arms is a men’s social group where people can meet regularly to talk, take part in simple activities and enjoy time together in an informal setting.

Sessions focus on social connection and shared interests, with support from staff and volunteers.

The group is for men living with dementia and the people who care for them. People may want to attend to meet others, reduce social isolation and spend time in a relaxed, supportive environment.

£7.50 for the event and unlimited refreshments.
