

Newcastle Integrated Domestic Abuse Service (NIDAS)

NIDAS support people experiencing domestic violence and abuse in Newcastle. They have a refuge for women and their children who are moving from abusive relationships. It's open 24 hours a day. They can support men who need alternative housing to leave abusive relationships. You can be referred to this service or contact them directly. They offer:

- an outreach service where they support people at risk of abuse
- independent advice about domestic and sexual violence for victims at high risk of harm
- support with housing and legal issues, access to benefits, training, employment and finding schools and childcare

NIDAS is commissioned by Newcastle City Council to support people threatened by domestic violence and abuse.

Last updated: December 8, 2023

Telephone: 0191 226 3688

Telephone note: In an emergency call 999

Website: www.newcastleidas.co.uk

Email: nidas.team@changing-lives.org.uk

Related Articles

Homeless or worried about becoming homeless

Adult abuse

Personal Safety

Domestic abuse

Services commissioned by Newcastle City Council