

Coronavirus and safeguarding vulnerable people

Click on the poster to link to the Community Health and Social Care Direct page.

The poster is titled 'Safeguarding adults for people self-isolating' and features the Newcastle Safeguarding Adults Board logo. It contains three main sections: 1) A top section with an icon of three people (two standing, one in a wheelchair) and text stating the goal is to ensure the most vulnerable are safe during self-isolation. 2) A middle section with a padlock icon and text asking if a family member, friend, or trusted neighbour can help, or if existing community groups can be used. 3) A bottom section with a document icon and text advising not to answer the door if unsure about help, and to ask for details and talk to a trusted person. At the very bottom, a white box contains the text 'If you are worried about a child, call 0191 277 2500'. The poster also includes contact information for Adult Social Care (0191 278 8377) and a telephone icon.

Safeguarding adults
for people self-isolating

 We want to make sure that the most vulnerable are safe when they are self-isolating. Here are some things to think about if you are offered, or need, support during this time.

Could a family member, friend or trusted neighbour help you? If not, try to use existing and trusted community groups.

 Not sure? Don't answer the door
If you're not sure about an offer of help, ask the person to leave details and talk to someone you trust about it.

You can contact Adult Social Care on 0191 278 8377 if you need support or you feel unsafe. In an emergency, call 999.

If you are worried about a child, call 0191 277 2500
