Free InformationNOW widget available

Allow your website visitors to search InformationNOW without leaving your website

Our free widget is available to organisations to use on your websites. It's a bit of coding that sits behind the scenes in your website and allows your visitors, staff and volunteers to use InformationNOW without having to leave your website. This means they can find and share information, organisations and events all from your website. The widget is a smaller version of the InformationNOW home page so you can slot it into a page on your website. See it in action below.

Sounds good? Drop us an email for a chat. We can send you the code to get the widget up and running on your website.

InformationNOW Events & Activities widget

Our free Events & Activities widget gives you a live feed of the upcoming events in Newcastle. You can include this on your website to let your visitors see what's on this week.
