FastFutures

FastFutures help young people aged 18 to 24 to prepare for work. Your background and how well you did at school doesn't matter – everyone is welcome to apply.

In just 12 weeks you'll learn the practical skills that employers really need, build your network, and increase your confidence through one to one mentoring. It's a completely free virtual programme with free wrap around support to help young people learn digital and employability skills using real business case studies from employers such as BT, Barclays and the NHS.
