

Children's Speech and Language Therapy at Newcastle Hospitals

The Children's speech and language team at Newcastle upon Tyne NHS Foundation Trust has an open referral system, so that a parent, school, GP can refer into the service. Visit their web page for referral forms. They aim to minimise any negative impact of speech, language or communication difficulties for the child and their family, as well as on their education and social lives. Their services include:

- acquired speech and language difficulties (e.g. head injury, stroke)
- Autism
- early language development, including understanding and use of spoken language
- preschool social communication difficulties
- developmental language disorder
- Pronunciation difficulties
- Moderate learning difficulties
- hearing impairment
- stammering
- swallowing
- voice
- young people with an educational health care plan

They have clinics at the RVI and across the region

Last updated: July 28, 2022

Telephone: 0191 282 3085

Website: <https://www.newcastle-hospitals.nhs.uk/services/speech-and-language-therapy/childrens-speech-and-language-therapy/>

Related Articles

Autism and local support services

Stroke

Learning disability local support services