Safeline

Safeline provides specialist support for adults and children affected by or at risk of sexual abuse and rape. They have a free national telephone helpline. You can access support in the way that suits you best such as face to face, telephone, email or online chat. They offer:

- free, specialist trauma-informed support to people who have experienced any form of sexual violence, at any time in their lives, including those who support them
- counselling and support
- support for children at risk and their families to help prevent child sexual abuse
- National Male Survivor telephone helpline and Online Support Service for men and boys in England and Wales affected by sexual violence and abuse and those who support them
- Independent Sexual Violence Advocates give free, confidential, practical, and emotional support and information to victims and survivors

Last updated: April 8, 2022

Telephone: 01926 402 498

Telephone note: Main helpline open Monday to Friday 9am to 5pm

Website: https://www.safeline.org.uk

Helpline: 0808 800 5005

National Male Survivor Helpline & Online Support open Monday to Friday 9am to 8pm and Saturday and Sunday: 10am to 2pm
Twitter: https://twitter.com/SafelineOrg

Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SafelineOrg/

Address:
6a New Street
Warwick
Warwickshire
CV34 4RX

Related Articles

Personal Safety