

Natasha Allergy Research Foundation

Natasha Allergy Research Foundation are a charity that raise money for allergy research. The money they raise funds research into the causes of allergies, as well as potential treatments or cures.

They also campaign to raise awareness about allergies, ensure that laws protect people with allergies, and make sure that medical information and advice is readily available through the NHS.

They have also developed the Allergy School toolkit, which is a free online resource aimed at schools, nurseries, and out-of-school clubs. These resources provide information about allergies, as well as tips to protect children who have allergies.
