Deceased Identity Protection Service

The Deceased Identity Protection Service gathers information about people who have died and gives that information to organisations to lower the risk of identity theft and unwanted contact.

Registering with the Deceased Identity Protection Service online is one of the ways to stop unwanted mail to a deceased persons address. Registering someone as deceased is free.

Last updated: November 30, 2023

Website: https://www.deceasedidentityprotection.com/

Cost: Free

Address:
5th Floor,
10 Whitechapel High Street,
London
E1 8QS

Related Articles

Identity theft

When someone dies: a practical guide