

The Silver Programme

The Silver Programme provides a wide variety of daytime musical activities for people over the age of 50, within a relaxed, informal and supportive environment – including singing of all kinds, steel pans, guitars, recorders, rock ensembles and much more.

With sessions at The Glasshouse International Centre for Music and increasingly throughout the whole of the North East of England, participants work with experienced and accessible tutors. Through workshops and performances the Silver Programme expands the current and dormant skills of members as well as encouraging and developing new and emerging ones.

Ever fancied having a go at an instrument? Or singing with other people? Whether you're a beginner or have lots of experience, we're sure to have something for you. Why not come and give it a try?
