

A Room in Bloom

Step into A Room in Bloom and wander through a larger-than-life floral wonderland where fresh, locally grown flowers and intricate paper art blur the line between nature and imagination. Starting at your feet and growing high above your head, this blooming installation is full of surprises. Look closely... can you tell the difference between a petal and a piece of paper?

But don't just stop and stare. Join paper artist Yvette Ja inside the installation and create your own paper flower in a relaxed, hands-on workshop. As you fold, shape and craft, you'll discover the hidden stories behind the flowers that fill our lives; from supermarket bouquets to garden blooms and the wildflowers growing through cracks in the pavement.

WHAT TO EXPECT

- A stunning walk-through installation where fresh flowers and intricate paper art blend into a larger-than-life floral wonderland.
- A relaxed, drop-in creative workshop led by paper artist Yvette Ja, an opportunity to create your own paper flower and reflect on the stories behind the blooms that fill our everyday lives.
- A calm and welcoming environment, accompanied by a reflective soundtrack and information about the community growers and organisations who helped bring the installation to life.

GOOD TO KNOW

- This is a drop-in experience; stay for a few minutes or take your time exploring and creating.
- The workshop is best suited to adults and children aged 8+, although visitors of all ages are welcome to explore the installation.
- No booking is required to take part in the workshop – just drop in.
- The installation includes fresh flowers, paper artworks, sound and information displays.
- Seating will be available.
- You're welcome to explore the installation, join the workshop, or do both.
- You are allowed to take photos of the installation – it will be very Instagrammable.

Last updated: August 9, 2026